REPRESENTING VULNERABLE CLIENTS THROUGH OUR CRIMINAL JUSTICE SYSTEM

Tina Lakhani, Senior Associate of Irwin Mitchell LLP and Áine Kervick, Associate of Kingsley Knapley LLP

A training event hosted by London CoPPA discussing the representation of vulnerable clients and the associated capacity considerations for those who become part of our Criminal Justice System. This is an essential webinar for deputies and professionals looking after vulnerable clients, who are or may find themselves to be defendants or victims.

Tina Lakhani is an experienced criminal defence solicitor specialising in the representation of individuals subject to criminal or regulatory investigation at police stations through to its conclusion at Court.

Áine Kervick is a criminal defence solicitor who acts for individuals under investigation in all criminal matters from police station to trial. She has particular experience representing children and young people at the police station.
